WRECK A RAILROAD

BOERS REPORTED TO HAVE DESTROYED TRACK OF DELACOA BAY LINE.

WORRYING THE BRITISH FORCES BY A FRESH DISPLAY OF ACTIVITY.

English Soldiers Are Worn Out and Must Speedily Be Relieved.

London, May 7. 3 a. m.—Latest advice from south Africa indicate that within the last few days the boers have once more assumed an aggressive attitude and are causing serious annoyance to the British forces. It is reported in Brussels that the Delagoa Bay railroad has again been destroyed.

The Pretoria correspondent of the Times, in a special dispatch dated April 6, describes the insecurity of the Delagoa Bay railroad and the constant delays and stoppages due to systematic attempts by boer commandoes to wreck the lines and trains with mines. Like the Times Kronstadt correspondent in a letter published yesterday, the Pretoria correspondent of the Times also insists upon the imperative necessity of replacing the stale British troops by fresh drafts, declaring that "unless the war is finished before September we must resign ourselves to its continuance for another year."

Urges a Vigorous Campaign.

Commenting upon the communication from its correspondents in Kronstadt and Pretoria, the Times says:

"The large captures of boers since these letters were written give promise of a better state of things, but the government ought to do their utmost. Unfortunately it is out of question in present circumstances to carry out the general system of relief, but something might surely be done for the battalions which have suffered most."

Boers Kill 15,000 British.

The war office gives the total deaths in the south African war at 714 officers and 14,244 men. Four officers and 314 men have been invalided home and have subsequently died. Two thousand four hundred and ninety-three noncommissioned officers and men have left the service unfit for duty.

Replying to a question in the house of commons today, Mr. Brodrick, the war secretary, said that among the prisoners captured in south Africa were twenty-six Americans, besides thirteen others claiming to be burghers. There was no intention of releasing any of the prisoners until the war was over.

Klerksdorp, Transvaal Colony, May 6.—General Delarey's force of 4,000 boers, which has been in the hills around Hartbeestfontein, is splitting up. Some of the men are moving to the southwest, while others are going north. Delarey himself is moving south.

MUTUAL GREETING

President McKinley Receives the Mexican Representatives

MAKES A PATRIOTIC SPEECH

American and Mexican Flags Were Entertained in the Decorations of the Plaza When the Official Meeting Took Place.

El Paso, Tex., May 7.—American and Mexican flags were intertwined in the decorations of the plaza where the official meeting of President McKinley and his cabinet took place yesterday morning. The presence on the stand of Gen. Hernandez, personal representative of President Diaz, and the governor of the state of Chihuahua, gave an international significance to the event. There were thousands of Mexicans in the vast concourse of people to whom the president spoke and their enthusiasm was almost as wild as that of the Americans.

Gen. Hernandez addressed the president on behalf of his president, extending the latter's congratulations, and President McKinley, in response, said in part:

"This is the gateway to the Mexican republic, and I want in this connection to express my great satisfaction with the cordial salutations tendered to me by that great and distinguished president of our sister republic, President Diaz. I thank his representative for the cordial words with which he has presented the feeling of respect and regard of his illustrious president to the government of the United States, and I beg that he will convey to him the warm and personal esteem that I have for his chief, which is shared by the whole American people. And my wish for still further prosperity and advancement among his people."

"I cannot fail also to recognize the cordial welcome which has been given to me by the governor of the neighboring state of the Mexican republic. I cannot go over there, but they can come here, and we bid them welcome with open hearts. I can look over there (laughter), but there is something in the traditions of this republic, something in its precedents that does not permit the president to go outside of the United States during his term of office. (Applause.) But as we do not hold office all the time here (laughter), we will have an opportunity of going there in the future."

"We have sent our army and our navy to distant seas, and they have only added glory to our flag. They have brought no shame upon the American name. We sent them to China to rescue our beleaguered representatives, and they did the work and did it magnificently. But it is not in the art of war that we take our greatest pride. We are not a warlike people. Our pride is in the arts of peace. Here we are on the border line between the United States and a great republic, and on this side of the line we have 35 American soldiers, and on that side of the line there are less than 150 Mexican soldiers. So that we are dwelling in peace and amity, causing peace on earth and good will toward men." (Great applause.)

We want to settle our differences, if we ever have any with any of the powers of the world, by arbitration. We want to exhaust every peaceable means for settlement before we go to war, and while we have authority to raise 100,000 troops, the necessity does not exist for that number, and we do not propose to raise but 75,000. So don't be alarmed about militarism or imperialism. We know no imperialism in the United States except the imperialism of a sovereign people."

Deming, N. M., May 7.—Shortly after leaving El Paso the train passed the line into New Mexico and ran through the grazing section of the territory. It was a hot and dusty ride. The first stop in the territory was made at Deming, where the president was welcomed by Gov. Otero and his staff. There was a big crowd and a band at the station, and the president was given a warm greeting.

W. M. Berger, president of the New Mexico Press association, had met the party at El Paso, and accompanied the train across the territory. The address of welcome at Deming was largely devoted to New Mexico's claim for statehood. A broad banner above the train read:

"New Mexico demands statehood." The president spoke briefly.

FIGHTING COAL TAX

Some Very Caustic Remarks in the House of Commons

IN DEFENSE OF COAL MINERS

Denounced the Government as "Pack of Riotous Hounds After a Ewe Lamb," By Which He Referred to the Coal Industry.

London, May 9.—By a vote of 233 to 227 the coal tax bill passed the house of commons. Consequently the tax of a shilling a ton on export coal was adopted by a majority of 106. These figures, apparently don't represent the feeling of the members of the house, but the government made the issue strictly a party one and secured the record attendance for this parliament and by vigorous efforts polled within a score of the normal majority. The galleries were packed to overflowing.

The principal figures during the last day of the discussion of the coal tax were chiefly within the liberal ranks. Sir Edward Grey, Mr. H. H. Asquith, Mr. Wm. Abraham (liberal) and Mr. Chas. Fenwick all assailed the tax eloquently, the last two speaking with no little pathos and a broad accent on behalf of the miners, in whose station of life they worked before coming to Westminster.

Perhaps the most interesting feature was the speech of Hon. Frederick Lambton, brother of the Earl of Durham, who, standing amid the conservative members, denounced the government as "a pack of riotous hounds after a ewe lamb," by which he referred to the coal industry. He declared that the chancellor of the exchequer had represented the colliers as liars and forgers and maintained that they were "as honorable a set of men as ever sat on the government benches." Sir Michael Hicks-Beach attempted to explain, but Mr. Lambton paid little heed. The sleepy peers who had come in to hear the final stages of the debate blinked vigorously as they heard the right of miners to strike proclaimed by an aristocrat, who declared the miners were "as good as many a man who has won the Victoria cross."

Another supporter of the government, Mr. John Wilson, objected to the tax, bringing up the question of American competition and contending that the duty would give the United States a chance to cut out British coal. This started the ball rolling, and for some time the house gave itself up to a discussion of the relative merits of "pocoahantas" and "smokeless Welsh," with frequent references to America's growing merchant marine and the advantages of coal. Mr. Balfour, in rambling style, summed up the debate, basing his argument upon the proposition that such a great and ever increasing industry as the export of coal could not be seriously affected by the imposition of a tax of a shilling a ton. He dismissed as highly improbable the theory that American coal would ever be able to compete with English.

In the division which followed there was much cross-voting. Mr. John Morley was voted with the government. Several liberals abstained from voting, while almost all the conservatives representing coal counties joined the opposition. During Mr. Balfour's summing up one of his own adherents remarked audibly, "It is a wretched speech, but of course Balfour does not know what he is talking about." This was a verdict which seemed to meet with the approval of other government supporters nearby. Indeed, if the most urgent whips had not been issued and if it had not been feared that the government was likely to be defeated, many ministerialists who voted in favor of the tax would either have abstained from voting or would have voted against it. What the miners' federation will do now remains to be seen. Judging from the speeches of the labor members during the last stages of the debate the federation is quite likely to declare a general strike, thus precipitating a struggle between organized labor and parliament. Such a collision as was said frequently during the discussion might prove ruinous to the coal industry and highly injurious to the country.

Denver, Col., May 7.—A special to the News from Santa Fe, N. M., says: Four beautiful turquoise from the Porterfield mines, in the Burro mountains, were presented to President McKinley yesterday by Gov. Otero at Deming. The largest stone weighed 20 karats and was a superb specimen.

Vigorous Offensive Campaign.

Manila, May 7.—The island of Samar, one of the Visayan group, has been transferred from the department commanded by Gen. Wadto to that commanded by Gen. Hughes. Gen. Hughes has been ordered personally to Samar, and if he is unsuccessful in negotiating the surrender of the insurgent general, Lukban, the force of American troops in Samar will be increased and a vigorous offensive campaign will be inaugurated. The military authorities have prepared a schedule and forwarded the same to Washington covering the sailing dates of the ten regiments of volunteers still in the archipelago. Unless unforeseen delays arise, the last of these regiments will reach home before June 30.

Ex-President Dead.

Paris, May 7.—Mariano Ignacio Prado, ex-president of Peru, is dead. Mariano Ignacio Prado was born in 1826. He participated in Gen. Castilla's revolution against Echenique's government in 1864. He marched against Lima in 1865 and entered the capital Nov. 6 at the head of a victorious army. On Nov. 26 he declared himself dictator and was subsequently elected constitutional president by the Peruvian congress. He was again elected president in 1876.

A Snoring Child Should Have Medical Attention.

Snoring is a symptom that should not be neglected in children. It shows that there is some obstruction to the free passage of air from the nose to the throat. The tonsils may be enlarged, and so partially close the passage at its lower opening. There may be a polypus or some small tumor in the nasal passage itself, or catarrh of the throat or nose, or both. A physician should be consulted.—May Ladies' Home Journal.

VEAL OR BUTTER?

Best Profitable Way of Raising Calves Discussed.

In answer to a query as to the most profitable disposition of calves The National Stockman and Farmer says:

The kind of cows a man owns will largely govern. Some have herds that will raise calves and fatten them well and not be worth the food they eat if the milk be made into butter. Again, if butter is made at home the facilities may not be such that butter can be made at a profit with the best butter cows on earth. Milk must be properly handled to get good butter from it, and this requires skill and knowledge or an undesirable butter will be made which is more valuable to take to the country store and swap for kerosene and calico than to sell on the market for cash. Again, to make veal calves profitably calves must be supplied so as fast as one becomes fat and the market good it can be sold and another found to take its place at a small cost.

The profits will be slim if the cow can make only one calf a year, for bear in mind a veal is one thing and a calf another. After a calf becomes 6 weeks or 2 months old it is no longer veal, but a baby beef, and will only sell for calf price, which is always from 2 to 4 cents less per pound than veal prices.

These are matters to be considered by each and every one for himself, and it does not always indicate that because one man succeeds remarkably in fattening veal calves any and all men can.
One may have tact, skill and ability to sell that the other fellow has not. In short, one can make a success in veal farming and could not in butter making, and vice versa. The veal calf man would not do it with butter cows with calves bred along the same line. Neither would the butter man make a success with cows bred for raising the best of veal calves.

No, skim separator milk won't fatten a veal. With a supplement of flaxseed jelly, ground oats or other grain properly mixed a fine calf can be grown, but it won't be a veal. It may be a calf and may sell for a fair price. To do this feed the calf whole milk for the first two weeks of its life, then by degrees add skim milk until at 4 weeks no whole milk is fed. As skim milk is added use in each quart a tablespoonful of flaxseed jelly made by steeping a pint of the seed in four quarts of water. Steep for two hours, take off the stove and strain when cool. It will be jelly. Do not allow this to become sour before feeding. As the calf at from 3 to 4 weeks of age will crave hay, give it a little, also a small handful of oat chop and later wheat middlings and cornmeal. Always feed these dry and uncooked.

PAYING DAIRY HERD.

How to Get a Good Lot of Cows—Help on the Farm.

With a hundred cows there should be eight to ten milkers, but not necessarily all men, and most of them not giving more than a quarter of their time to the cows. As an average one man can milk about eight cows in an hour, says Hoard's Dairyman. A dairy farmer of many years' experience estimates that milking and other matters connected with the immediate care of the cows and their product require the labor of one man for each 20 cows.

It is quite possible by persistent and intelligent selection to get a paying herd of milk cows by indiscriminate purchase and constant disposal of such as fail to milk profitably. To this end a careful record should be kept of the daily production of each cow for the whole year and by using a full blood dairy sire for the best cows raise a herd of first class dairy cows. It is not for us to specify which of the dairy breeds to select. In fact, breed is of less importance than strict dairy inheritance and potency. In buying a dairy bull look well to the performance of his dam and grandams, his sisters and his aunts.

Our personal experience and the testimony of the most successful dairy farmers in all parts of the country lead irresistibly to the conclusion that it will pay to build a silo.

Cream Separation.

I had occasion to visit a butter factory where the separating of cream from milk was going on, and as the inspector was about to make a test of the skim milk I remained to see the result, says a correspondent of Farm and Home. The test showed one-tenth of 1 per cent butter fat remaining. This the inspector told me was very good skimming. Arriving home, I sat down to figure out what the loss of one-tenth of 1 per cent meant to the farmers who were supplying the milk of 600 cows to the factory. Putting the average test at 4 per cent and the income per cow for the season at $35, I find the loss per cow 8 1/2 cents, for a herd of 20 cows $17.50 and for the 600 $525. I would strongly advise farmers to look into this, as there are separators which if properly run by a competent man will remove all the butter fat from the milk, or, at most, showing only a slight trace in the test bottle. Dairy men cannot afford to lose the apparently small loss of one-tenth of 1 per cent.

Card the Cow.

A cow kept in a small lot, stall or shed ought to be kept clean and carded or brushed before milking each morning to insure the milk from being tainted, for butter takes up any odor easily.
Butter should be worked only enough to get it together. Too much working gives it a greasy taste like lard. Never set butter near a strong smelling substance.

Intelligence in the Dairy.

Dairy farming demands a higher degree of intelligence and a wider range of practical knowledge than any other branch of agriculture.

Allowed.

On motion of Ald. Geerlings, The council went into the committee of the whole on the general order.

Whereupon the Mayor called Ald. Kleis to the chair.

After some time spent therein the committee arose and through their chairman reported having had under consideration an ordinance entitled "An ordinance prescribing certain duties of the marshal and of his deputy," that they had made no amendments thereto and recommended its passage.

The report was adopted and the ordinance placed on the order of third reading of bills.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

An ordinance entitled "An ordinance prescribing certain duties of the marshal and of his deputy" was read a third time, and

On motion of Ald. Habermann, Said ordinance was passed a majority of the aldermen elect voting therefor by yeas and nays as follows:—

Yeas—Ald. Kleis, Van den Tak, Kola, Van Zanten, Luidens, Geerlings, Habermann, Van Putten, Westhoek, and Riksen.—10.

Nays—0.

Adjourned.

WM. O. VAN EYCK, City Clerk.

BOARD OF REVIEW.

Notice is hereby given, that the Board of Review and Equalization of the City of Holland will meet at the Common Council rooms of said city, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon of Monday, May 27, 1901, and that it will continue in session at least four days successively, and as much longer as may be necessary, and at least six hours in each day during said four days or more; and that any person desiring so to do, may then and there examine his assessment.

WILLIAM O. VAN EYCK, City Clerk.

Dated Holland, Mich., May 10, 1901. 17-19

TO TAX INCOMES AT RATE OF ONE PER CENT ON $700 OR OVER.

The Rich Bill Is Expected to Pass the House This Week—Simpler Than Senate Bill.

Lansing, May 7.—Special to The Evening Press.—Representative Rich of Newaygo is determined to push his income tax bill this week, and expects to get it up for final passage before Friday.

It is more simple than the senate bill recently reported, and provides for a tax of one per cent straight upon all incomes of $700 and over. The senate bill provides for a graduated tax, and it has not yet passed that body. Mr. Rich believes that a flat one per cent rate will do the business better.

A form is provided by the bill for all assessing officers in the state to swear every man in their jurisdiction relative to his income, and this action is made mandatory. The applicant is compelled to swear positively to the amount of his gross income from all sources, whether salary, bequest, investment, or otherwise, and if it ranges over $700 a year, he will have to pay to the state a tax upon all amounting to or exceeding $700. This amount so collected shall go to the education fund of the state and toward paying off the state debt.

DUAL PURPOSE COWS

BREEDS THAT COMBINE MILK AND BEEF QUALITIES.

Comparison of Milk Product of Herds of Jerseys, Red Polls and Shorthorns on Lord Rothschild's Farm. Good Points of Devons.

J. McLain Smith of Ohio, discussing dual purpose cattle in The Breeder's Gazette, says:

The Red Polls and Shorthorns are having the field pretty much to themselves as dual purpose cattle. The Devons should of right be included, but Devon breeders of late seem to be losing their grip or at least are little heard from. In early days, when work oxen were largely used on the farm, the Devons were without a rival, and they were for these conditions excellent all round cattle, the cows good milkers and the steers making the best of all work oxen and at the end fine beef. But they are rather slow maturing and under present conditions have nearly dropped out.

The race at present seems to be between the two breeds first named. Which is preferable will depend somewhat on the environment and very largely on the individual selections. A first class animal of either breed under almost any conditions will give better satisfaction than a second grade of the other. As a rule, the Shorthorn breeders tend to develop most of the beef side of their animals, and the Red Polled breeders, especially in England, are inclining mostly to milk. Either breed, however, if properly selected and properly handled, should give satisfaction.

Shorthorns, as a rule, to do their best need better feed and better care. They are not so active or so energetic as the Red Polls. They will not exert themselves so much to get a living, and they suffer more and lose more under adverse conditions. With proper care and full feed the choice is largely a matter of fancy or individual preference, assuming that the cows are equally well selected.

In the tests of late, whether for milk or beef, the Red Polls have fully held their own. Unfortunately we have few official records on this side in milk yield, especially for Shorthorns, but such as we have show that Red Polls at least need not take a back seat. In the last Ohio test, conducted by the Ohio experiment station and the cows tested at home, the three Red Polls entered averaged more milk, more fat and more solids other than fat than the six Jerseys tested. In the test under the auspices of the Red Polled Cattle club last year, the test made by the experiment station, seven cows from Captain Hills' herd averaged nearly 40 pounds of milk a day with over a pound and a half of fat. In the test of the year before three cows from the herd of the writer, one milking over seven months, gave an average of a little over 30 pounds of milk and one and a quarter pounds of fat.

These are not extraordinary yields, but they are creditable for cows showing good beef quality and show a good profit on the feed consumed. On the home farm of Lord Rothschild at Tring Park, England, where a large herd is kept, all carefully selected and all managed under the best conditions, there is little difference in the annual yield of milk, though the Red Polls have always excelled all the mature cows of the Jerseys. Each breed averages over 6,000 pounds of milk a year, and one year the Red Polls exceeded 7,000 pounds.

PROFIT IN CALVES.

Opinion of a Georgia Farmer in regard to This Matter.

Many farmers with but two or three cows that drop their calves at different periods find it profitable to allow them to run with the cows for three or four weeks, says a Georgia farmer in American Agriculturist. They can be sold to the local butcher at from 4 to 6 cents per pound live weight. As they usually weigh from 125 to over 150 pounds each it makes a sum greater than could be obtained from butter made from the cows during the same period.

Cows liable to inflamed udder are not troubled if the calf is allowed to run with them continually. Feeding several times per day, the calf does not allow the udder to become full. With Jerseys or other small breeds the profit is not so great, as the live weight at selling time is nearly 50 pounds less than a Durham or Holstein at the same age. It is almost as much trouble to attend to the milk from one cow as from two or three. It takes just as long to do the churning and care for the butter. Hence by the vealing plan this matter can in a measure be regulated if the herd consists of several cows.

How to Secure Good Cows.

D. H. Otis, assistant professor of agriculture of Kansas, says good cows can only be secured by selection. He says: Not by buying, for such cows are seldom for sale. In nearly every herd there are at least a few good cows. It is only by persistent selecting, feeding and crossing these with a No. 1 dairy bull that the average farmer can hope to possess a herd of choice dairy cows. How can a man tell his best cow? The only way yet invented is through the record of the scale and the Babcock test. A man often thinks he knows his paying cow without keeping a record, but usually when his judgment is placed alongside of the scales and Babcock test a big discrepancy appears.

Seeding Alfalfa.

Alfalfa should be sown only on a carefully prepared seed bed. All attempts at seeding without such preparation can only result in failure and a consequent distrust of the value of alfalfa and the possibility of growing it.

The summer is for the closest possible association with Nature; for the teachings of those simple, every-day truths; those wonderful lessons of life which lie in every wild flower that blooms, in every leaf that grows, in every bird that sings, and in every brook that flows. We leave these lessons unread, and yet within them lies more fascination, more mystery, more marvelous plot, than in the finest romance ever penned.—May Ladies' Home Journal.

FARM GARDEN

THE HOME MARKET IDEA.

Feeding Crops on the Farm—Frozen Wheat Valuable For Stock.

It has seemed to the Utah station that farmers who are engaged in the production of hay and grain might, with advantage, add lamb feeding to their work. This would afford a home market for the products of the farm, assist in maintaining the fertility of the soil and would give profitable employment during the winter months.

During the summer of 1899 a heavy frost injured a considerable quantity of fall wheat throughout the state. In an experiment by the station frosted wheat was fed to one set of lambs, good wheat to another, and the remaining two sets received mill screenings. No. 1 screenings is that which comes from the elevator first, and this contains clover seeds, alfalfa seeds and the seeds from weeds of various kinds, while No. 2 screenings is made up mostly of cracked, broken and shrunk wheat.

The roughage used in the experiment was the same in all of the sets—a good quality of alfalfa hay.

The sets on both grades of screenings made better gains than that on good wheat and one of them better and the other almost as good as the frozen wheat set.

Taking into account both the rate and the cost of the gains, the results of this experiment indicate that it is more profitable to feed screenings than either good or frosted wheat.

The frozen wheat used in this experiment was of medium grade, neither the highest nor the lowest, and it gave better returns in rate of gain than wheat of good milling quality. This result agrees with that obtainable at the Canadian experiment station, where it is often found necessary to dispose of large quantities of frozen wheat.

From the standpoint of composition taken as a whole, the better grade of frozen wheat ranks little inferior for stock feeding to that fully ripened. The composition of both kinds of screenings shows a high feeding value, though the large percentage of crude fiber indicates that they are less digestible than any of the wheats.

On account of the numerous fine seeds the first screenings contain, they will give better results fed to sheep than to cattle and pigs.

In Manitoba and other portions of Canada, where there are frequently large quantities of frozen wheat, it has been tested, ground and soaked for 12 hours before use. One hundred pounds of frozen wheat were found equal to 791 pounds of skim milk in increasing the live weight of pigs. The pork was considered excellent, much superior to that of hogs fed on peas alone. The quality of beef from steers fed on frozen wheat was pronounced to be particularly excellent by the butchers and by the members of eight different households who examined it critically when served as roast beef.

The various feeding trials indicate frozen wheat to be practically equal to a mixture of wheat, oats and barley for hog feeding and to stand very high as a concentrated food for fattening cattle.

A GOOD MARKER.

A Horse Marker Which Runs Steadily and Takes Out All Hoof Marks.

For the marking of tomato ground a Farm Journal correspondent uses a marker made as follows: The head piece is of pine wood 3 inches thick, 8 feet 7 inches long and 6 inches wide. The three markers are of oak, 1½ inches thick, 7 inches wide and 2½ feet long. They are beveled at the lower end corners to show three inches on the ground in width, plated with one-eighth inch iron four inches wide and cornered to suit the wood.

These three pieces are bolted to the head at exactly four feet from the center to the center of marker boards. At the same time bore in the head holes to suit the markers at 3 feet 3½ inches; also put in a stout handle 1½ inches in diameter and 2½ feet long, 15 inches from each end of the head, to control the side drift. Let the shafts in at the head so as to give marker boards an incline back of 15 inches out of the square of the shafts.

The advantages of this marker are that it does not cut the soil to invite washing. The middle marker takes out all horse foot marks. The outside marker runs in the last row made. The back incline of the markers makes it run steady. Now we have the field laid off and not a horse foot mark except at the turning.

DEEP OR SHALLOW?

Common Sense Notions and Experience in Potato Planting.

An experiment has been conducted at the Canadian experimental farm during the past three years in planting potatoes at different depths in rows 2½ feet apart and 12 inches apart in the rows. The sets had at least three eyes each and were about uniform in size. The soil was sandy loam both years. Level cultivation was adopted, and thus very little soil was thrown on the potatoes after they were covered at the time of planting. The best yields were obtained from planting the sets only an inch deep.

In 1899 and 1900 it was found that most of the tubers were formed within four inches of the surface of the soil, even where the set had been planted six, seven and eight inches deep. Where the sets were planted less than four inches deep nearly all the tubers were formed between that and the surface of the soil.

The potato grows more rapidly in warm soil than in that which is cooler. The soil within the first three or four inches of the surface is warmer than that three or four inches lower down; hence the conditions are more favorable for the potato. The tubers when the potato is in the wild state develop near the surface or on the surface of the ground. It seems natural, therefore, that the cultivated potato should be planted shallow.

On the other hand, much of the success of shallow planting will depend on the moisture of the soil. If the season is very dry, the first two inches of soil may be so dry that the potato will not take root readily, and the season of growth will thus be shortened. Once the roots begin to grow they speedily reach a depth where plenty of moisture is found.

It seems reasonable to conclude that where the soil is not dry the best results can be obtained from shallow planting. In any case, early planted potatoes will probably succeed best when planted shallow, as the ground will be warmer. In places where the spring is late or where the ground is cold, best results will probably be had by shallow planting.

Although the best results have been obtained in sandy loam soil by planting the sets one inch deep, this method is not recommended for field culture. Unless the surface of the soil is kept loose and free from weeds, the potato crop will not be large. In order to kill a large proportion of the weeds which grow, the ground should be harrowed once or twice before the potatoes come up or just as they are coming up. If the sets were planted only one inch deep and the soil harrowed, many of them would be dragged out; hence about four inches deep would be the best.

THE FOOTPROOF TROUGH.

Practical Device For Distributing Food For Hogs.

A method of setting a hog trough so as to keep it clean is shown in the accompanying cut from the Ohio Farmer. The arrangement is seen from the inside of the pen or feeding lot. The trough is set just outside the inclosure. From 18 inches to 2 feet of the bottom of the partition or fence, as the case may be, is made to swing, being fastened by strong hinges to the parallel boards above. When feed is being placed in the trough, this is allowed to hang in its natural position and is secured there by the lever whose lower end catches on the inside of the trough, as shown in the upper figure.

TROUGH CLOSED—TROUGH OPEN.

After the feed is ready the lever is pushed to one side until its lower end clears the inside of the trough, and the partition is then swung out and secured to the outer edge of the trough by the lever again being pushed in position. The lever is attached to the swinging partition by a single bolt. This arrangement keeps the hogs away from the trough until the feed is distributed ready for them and also keeps them from getting their feet in the trough while eating.

The Riches of Irrigation Water.

The experience of centuries in various countries shows that irrigation water is often superior to rainwater in that it carries greater quantities of plant food. Pond and stream waters in humid regions are often rich in nitrates, which are the most costly and stimulating fertilizers. The surface waters of the arid regions are also notably rich in potash and other valuable ingredients. No doubt in many instances irrigation water, except that which comes from wells, is worth its manurial content as much as it costs to secure it, leaving its more obvious benefits a net gain to the irrigators.

SOY BEANS.

What Kansas Farmers Think of Them—A Point About Seed.

The Kansas experiment station has received reports from 270 farmers who raised soy beans in 1900. Those reports came from 72 counties. One hundred and forty-nine farmers write that the soy bean is a profitable crop, 44 have a favorable opinion, but need further trial; 34 report unfavorably, and 35 think the crop a total failure. The others did not express an opinion.

Most of the successful farmers plowed and harrowed their ground as for surface planting of corn. A few listed or double listed, either listing shallow or else harrowing the furrows nearly full. The Early Yellow soy gave the best yield, only a few farmers having success with the late varieties.

The favorite method of planting was with a grain drill, stopping up all the holes but those that put the rows 22 inches apart and dropping single beans two or three inches apart in the row. Corn planters with drill attachments and one horse corn drills were frequently used. Objections were made that corn planters put the rows too far apart for best yield.

The best yields were usually secured by planting as soon as corn planting was finished. Several farmers in eastern Kansas report that with them beans may be planted any time before July 1. The same cultivation as for corn was usually given. Five toothed cultivators were frequently used.

The season was exceptionally unfavorable. Hot winds and drought from the time of blossoming to maturing cut the crop short and shriveled the beans. This was immediately followed by heavy and long continued rains that injured the beans in shock and stack. The worst pest was rabbits.

The yields were from nothing to 31 bushels of grain per acre and up to two tons of hay per acre, the hay being reported as nearly equal to alfalfa in value and superior to clover. Most of the yields were from 12 to 20 bushels per acre. On the college farm soy beans yielded 7.4 bushels per acre along side of Kafir corn yielding 20 bushels and corn a total failure.

Many reports show a failure of seed to grow. Soy beans for seed must be kept in cool, well ventilated bins, in thin layers. In buying seed empty the sacks as soon as received and keep the beans spread out in a dry, cool place in a thin layer.—H. M. Cottrell.

Rippers are Taking a Survey of the Situation

EARMARKS OF PINGREEISM

Seen By Some of the Main Guys in Ripper Legislation—Gov. Bliss Signs a Small Appropriation Bill—The Bi-Centennial.

Lansing, Mich., May 7.—If any more Detroit ripper bills, except the Ames measure to extend the terms of half the aldermen and several other city officials, including Mayor Maybury, are jammed through the legislature there promises to be a bitter and foundation stirring factional fight in the republican party of the metropolis of the state. McMillan men yesterday viewed with anxiety and alarm the prominent part taken by old Pingree leaders and lieutenants in the conference of the g. o. p. rippers held at Concordia hall, Detroit. They now say it looked to them as though such former staunch Pingree men as Charles Flowers, Alex. I. McLeod and Robert Oakman were urging on the more rabid of the rippers for a double purpose—the belief that further legislation along the line of the public works, police and park department bills will cause the people to turn against the Navin-McMillan machine builders and re-elect Hazen S. Pingree as mayor, and will also result in prominent and able Pingree lieutenants securing control of some of the politically powerful municipal departments with a view to using them in re-establishing Pingree in control of the republican organization of Detroit.

It is for this reason that one of the most prominent McMillan men in the Wayne delegation declared that he believed no more Detroit ripper bills will be passed by this legislature after Ames' term extension bill goes through the senate, which will probably be to-day.

Gov. Bliss has signed Rep. Bland's bill appropriating $3,406 for the Michigan naval militia, the money to be used in paying the organization's indebtedness that has accumulated since the Spanish-American war, in purchasing uniforms, etc., for new recruits, in building a new spar deck on the Yosemite and for other purposes. Bland's bill to appropriate $4,000 for the purchase of bronze medals for the Michigan military and naval heroes of the Spanish-American war, has passed the house and is now before the senate committee on finance and appropriations. Senator Holmes will probably have it reported out this week.

In the senate last night, 23 members being present, Senators Murfin, High and Gad Smith, the special committee to confer with Detroit citizens relative to celebrating the two hundredth anniversary of the foundation of Detroit, reported in favor of the state participating. Then Senator Murfin offered a concurrent resolution to appropriate $25,000 and requesting Gov. Bliss to appoint a committee. On Murfin's motion it was referred to the committee on finance and appropriations.

Arrested on a Serious Charge.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., May 7.—Wm. Hahn of Utica, deputy game warden, was arrested yesterday and arraigned before Justice Lyons of this city on a charge of criminal assault preferred by Minnie Penska, a crippled girl of Macomb township. Minnie claims she was walking along the highway on the way to church when overtaken by Hahn, who was on a wheel; he accosted her and introduced himself as the school teacher of that district; when they reached a secluded place the assault was committed, she being paralyzed on one side and helpless. Hahn denies the charge and waived examination, giving bail in the sum of $500 for appearance at the next term of court.

Prominent Politician Dead.

Port Huron, Mich., May 7.—A telegram was received here yesterday morning stating that A. R. Avery, collector of customs at this port, had died at Lakeland, Fla., Monday morning at 2:30 o'clock. The news causes a great shock, as it had been announced that he was improving in health, and would arrive home some time this month. Neuralgia of the heart was given as the cause of death.

A. R. Avery was one of the most prominent republican politicians of the state, and had figured, together with his brother, Lincoln Avery, in every political battle of past years.

Liquor Got the Best of Him.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., May 7.—James Johnson of Port Huron, who robbed the Rapid Railway ticket offices at New Baltimore of a number of tickets, pleaded guilty before Justice Lyons and was sentenced to 90 days in the county jail. Johnson has been master on several lake vessels, but liquor got the better of him, and to that he attributes his downfall.

Salsbury Re-Elected.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 7.—City Attorney Lant K. Salsbury, indicted in Chicago in February for the alleged embezzlement of $50,000 from Omaha parties, the money to be used to boodle a water works scheme through the council, was re-elected city attorney by the new council last night.

Daniels Held for Murder.

Jackson, Mich., May 7.—The examination of Daniels and Filley on a charge of murdering Ira Luker was resumed yesterday morning. The court decided that the evidence was not strong enough to hold Filley, and he was discharged. Daniels was held to the circuit court.

Killed His Companion.

Iron River, Mich., May 7.—Martin Gerlick, a Polish laborer, while under the influence of liquor, fatally stabbed a companion at Atkinson. Gerlick was brought here and is in jail.

THE OLD STORY.

A Young Girl Takes Carbolic Acid and Dies.

Detroit, Mich., May 7.—Screaming with pain and clutching the pillows in the agony of death, pretty Inez Maltby, aged 21, was found in her room at 119 Park street at 6 o'clock Monday morning by Mrs. H. Carr and Miss Emma Sweetmore. An empty bottle of carbolic acid on the table beside the bed told the story.

Dr. High and Dr. Obetz were hastily summoned to the bedside of the dying girl, and the ambulance soon took her to Grace hospital, where death came at 8 o'clock.

A telegram from Flint says that Miss Maltby was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grove B. Maltby, respectable farmers. Until a year ago she held a position at the School for the Deaf, resigning the place voluntarily. While there she enjoyed an excellent reputation, and Supt. Clark thought she left with the ambition to become more than an ordinary domestic.

Body Found in the Woods.

Cheboygan, Mich., May 7.—John Cummings was found dead in the woods about four miles from Cheboygan on the road to Utes camp by F. Tobias. The body was brought to Undertaker Tuttle's and arrayed for burial. No signs of foul play. He was a member of Company K, M. N. G.

Detroit Men Are In It.

Lansing, Mich., May 7.—The Hecla Portland Cement & Coal Co. of Detroit, capitalized at $5,000,000, filed articles of association yesterday. The incorporators are Ubaldo R. Doranger of Bay City and Cameron Currie, Julius Stroth, E. H. Parker and H. H. Hatch of Detroit.

A TERRIBLE CRASH.

Passenger Train Runs Into a Freight, With Fatal Results.

Ottumwa, Ia., May 7.—Burlington passenger train No. 3 yesterday, while passing Thayer, a small town 18 miles east of Creston, struck an engine attached to a freight train which was endeavoring to get out of the way by backing on the side track, and was derailed, killing Engineer S. D. Brown of Burlington and injuring 30 people. All but the two rear cars of the passenger train left the rails and rolled down a 20-foot embankment.

Thayer is situated in the bed of a deep ravine, through which the track is laid. A heavy train in order to make schedule time is compelled to use steam down one hill to reach the top of the other. Owing to the fact that both tracks for a distance are heavily curved, neither engineer could see the other train until within 200 feet of it. The engineer of the freight train heard the passenger train and made frantic efforts to back the heavy train on the side track. He succeeded in getting all but his engine to a place of safety.

On came the passenger train at the rate of 70 miles an hour. When within 200 feet of the point of collision, Engineer Brown saw the danger, threw the air brake to the emergency notch, applied the sand and stuck to his engine in the grim endeavor to save the precious freight behind. The crew of the freight engine, making desperate efforts to avoid impending catastrophe, stayed with the engine until the last moment, when they jumped and saved themselves from instant death. The freight engine was thrown across the track. The passenger engine was hurled down the 20-foot embankment, followed by the baggage car, express car, day coach and three chair cars, the chair cars and day coach having a large number of passengers, many from this city. The agent telegraphed to Ottumwa for a relief train and a special with surgeons and nurses left for the scene.

Rebuilding of Jacksonville.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 7.—Perfect order prevails. The work of rebuilding has commenced. The owner of the Gardner building writes from Chicago that he has ordered plans for the erection of an eight story building on the old site. This was the costliest business structure burned. Plans are preparing for rebuilding the Windsor hotel. Insurance adjusters continue to arrive, but no concerted plan of loss settlements has been arranged.

The receipts by the relief association and other agencies approximate $50,000. Ten carloads of supplies were received yesterday from Charlestown and one from Atlanta, as well as many other small lots.

A Real Count Dead.

New York, May 7.—Joseph Joerge, who committed suicide in Hoboken Sunday night by taking carbolic acid, is said to be a member of the German nobility rightfully entitled to call himself a count. A sister lives in Mainz, Germany, and his brother-in-law is Count von Zurich, said to be a privy councillor to the kaiser. Joerge came to this country some seven years ago since which time he has been in receipt of quarterly remittances, the last, to the amount of $700, having come to him two weeks ago. This sum he is said to have squandered in less than a week.

Practical Jokers Killed.

Davenport, Ia., May 7.—Emil Mohr and Charles Reis were killed yesterday while pretending to hang August Blunk on a pulley rope outside the Independent Maltng Co.'s building. Mohr and Reis, with Gus Siems, were teasing Blunk and wound up by tying the rope about his waist with the avowed intention of hanging him. The strain on the rope caused the fastenings 60 feet above to give way. An iron pulley struck Reis on the head, crushing it. A falling scintling injured Mohr. Blunk was slightly injured.

Creditors Will Get Something.

Washington, May 7.—The comptroller of the currency has declared dividends in favor of the creditors of insolvent national banks as follows: Twenty-five per cent First National bank of Niles, Mich.; 25 per cent the First National bank of White Pigeon, Mich.; 44 1/2 per cent the First National bank of Hillsborough, Ohio.

GREAT DAIRY RECORD

RESULTS OF GOOD BREEDING, EXTRA CARE AND FEED.

Value of Making Regular Tests and Weeding Out Poor Milkers—Enslage Fed in Summer and Cattle Protected From Heat.

I have lately made up my milk record for the past ten months, including all my cows that have gone dry up to the present time, writes E. D. Tillson in Kansas Farmer. I cannot make up the full herd of 55 cows, as they have not all milked their full season, but as I have often been asked how my cows were doing I have made up the record of 40 cows, taking them in regular course as they have gone dry, which I think is a fair average of the herd. The average of last year of the entire herd of 55 cows was 10,242 pounds of milk, average time of milking 11 months 23 days, butter fat test 3.5 per cent, making 418 pounds of butter.

This year they are doing considerably better owing to having been better cared for and better fed during the summer months. We fed a half winter's ration of both ensilage and grain all summer, and we tried to protect them from the severe heat and flies during July and August and continued to weed out all the poorer cows and replace them with good heifers coming in, so that our milk record this year is showing a considerable improvement over last year, and we have been trying to improve every year since we started in to weigh each cow's milk once a week, test the quality with Babcock tester once a month and keep a yearly record of every cow and weed out 12 to 15 of the poorest milkers every year and replace them with good heifers which we have coming in every year, as we raise all our best calves and turn them into either beef or cows.

We commenced working on this system four years ago, also providing green feed for the cows during a drought or a very dry time during the midsummer months, but last summer we made another great improvement by feeding our cows ensilage and grain all through the summer, when on either good or bad pasture we fed half a regular winter ration of both ensilage and grain. Cows like ensilage in hot as well as cold weather, even when on good pasture.

We also added another improvement last year. In very hot weather we kept our cows in stable during the day and out in the pasture at night, also washed them with a mixture. We put it on either with a brush or a spray pump made for that purpose, applied it twice a week, which drove the horn flies all off the cows. All of these improvements have had a good effect in largely increasing the flow of milk, so that this season our cows have averaged 11,000 pounds of milk, testing 3.5 per cent fat, making 476 pounds butter. Average time of milking, 12 months.

Twelve months seem long, but that is caused by our making our 2-year-old heifers with first calf longer than we do older cows—viz, 12 to 16 months—and cows weeded out for beef are also milked a longer time on the whole herd.

My best cow, No. 56, is a cross between a Holstein bull and a Shorthorn cow. She is now 6 years old. She gave first year as a 2-year-old 10,100 pounds in 11 months. Next time she gave 15,000 pounds in 11 months, next year 17,740 pounds in 10 months and 21 days, and this year so far in ten months up to the 1st of February 18,000 pounds. She is now giving 33 pounds per day, and we intend milking her 2 1/2 months longer, making 12 1/2 months. We expect she will give in the 12 1/2 months 20,000 pounds in milk in one year. The quality of her milk has averaged during the whole four years about 3.6 per cent, running from 3.4 per cent to 4 per cent fat, which, made into butter, for the first year would be 424 pounds, second year 630 pounds, third year 745 pounds and the fourth (this year) the phenomenal, 840 pounds of butter from one cow in one year.

My cows have a good, warm, well ventilated, comfortable stable, roomy single stalls, fresh running spring water and salt always before them, fastened with a chain round neck giving freedom, allowed to run out for an hour or two twice a week on fine days, but kept in on stormy and bad or cold days. We believe in feeding well and find it pays well to do so.

My herd of cows are mostly Holsteins, one-quarter of them pure bred, the remainder three-fourths to seven-eighths Holstein blood, having used a pure bred Holstein bull 15 years, first cross with Shorthorn cows. We have used none other than a pure registered Holstein bull during the past 15 years.

Take Care of the Cow.

Don't expect your milk cow to furnish her quota of milk and butter if she be left to hustle with the rest of the stock. If she is to do her best, she must be fed regularly and well and must be protected from the cold storms and sudden changes of winter. Winter milking doesn't pay unless the cow is well treated.

M. rapid electric railway.—Zeeland Record.

Revolving Roof For Apiary.

Two views are shown in American Bee Journal of our apiary, which exploits a novel idea in the matter of red roofs. One presents the apiary with the revolving roof in a horizontal position to shade the hives from the noon-day sun. The other shows the roof on a slant to protect from the afternoon summer sun or chilling winter blasts.

The owner of the apiary says: "The hives are the ten frame, with an all wool blanket between the brood chamber and the super, but held up from the frames so the bees can pass over from frame to frame. The super is then filled lightly with short straw. The ventilation seems to be enough for this climate (Adams county, Ill.) under a trial of four winters—south of the fortieth parallel and three miles east of the Mississippi river.
